We are a Church of England School and our policies are written with a commitment to our Christian Character, which is rooted in the Bible.

Start children off on the way they should go and even when they are old they will not turn from it (Proverbs 22:6)

This Policy should be read in conjunction with the Special Educational Needs and Disability (SEND) Information Report

This SEN policy complies with statutory requirements laid out in the SEND Code of Practice 0 - 25 years (2014) and has been written with reference to the following guidance and documents:

- Equality Act 2010
- SEND Code of Practice 0 - 25 years 2014

- The National Curriculum in England primary / secondary framework document 2014
- Safeguarding Policy
- Accessibility Plan 2022-2025

This policy was created by the school's SENDCO with the SEND Governor in liaison with the SLT, all staff and parents of pupils with SEND.

Aims and Objectives of the policy

- In our school, every teacher is a teacher of every child including those with SEN
- All pupils have access to a broad and balanced curriculum
- Pupils with SEND have a positive approach to learning and make good progress overall. The effective support they receive, both within and outside lessons enables them to access the same learning experiences as their classmates
- As a result of support, many pupils no longer need extra help as they get into the older age groups
- Through our Special Educational Needs and Disability policy and practice in this school we aim:
 - To ensure that children and young people with SEND engage in the activities of the school alongside pupils who do not have SEND.
 - To secure special educational provision for pupils for whom this is required, that is "additional to and different from" that provided within the differentiated curriculum to better respond to the four areas of need
 - This policy was developed, consulted upon and shared through discussion with governors and consultation with parents via the school website and information in the weekly newsletter.

What are special educational needs and disability (SEND)?

A child or young person has SEND if he or she has a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for him /her.

A learning difficulty or disability is a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age.

Special educational provision means educational or training provision that is additional to, or different from, that made generally for others of the same age in a mainstream setting in England.

Health care provision or social care provision which educates or trains a child or young person is to be treated as special educational provision.

(Code of Practice 2014)

The 4 broad areas of need are:

- Communication and interaction
- Cognition and learning
- Social, mental and emotional health
- Sensory/physical

Some pupils make less than expected progress given their age and individual circumstances. This can be characterised by progress which:

- is significantly slower than that of their peers starting from the same baseline
- fails to match or better the child's previous rate of progress
- fails to close the attainment gap between the child and their peers
- widens the attainment gap (6.17)

What is not SEND but may impact on progress and attainment?

- Disability (the Code of Practice outlines the "reasonable adjustment " duty for all settings and schools provided under current Disability Equality legislation - these alone do not constitute SEND)
- Attendance and Punctuality
- Health and Welfare
- EAL
- Being in receipt of Pupil Premium Grant
- Being a Looked After Child
- Being a child of Serviceman/woman

All pupils will be provided with high quality teaching that is differentiated to meet the diverse needs of all learners.

- The class teacher has responsibility for the provision for the child on a daily basis. Where interventions are used (whether group or 1:1) the teacher still retains responsibility for progress.

- Teacher and TA work closely to plan and assess impact of support and interventions and how they are linked to classroom teaching
- The quality of teaching is monitored through a number of processes see SEND information report
- Pupils with a disability will be provided with 'reasonable adjustments' in order to increase their access to the taught curriculum.

Our graduated approach to SEND support:

When children encounter a problem with progress -

- The response to their learning barrier will first be addressed through normal day to day classroom practise with high quality first teaching targeted to area of weakness and reasonable adjustments made. This will be differentiated to all including SEND.
- Slow progress and low attainment do not necessarily mean SEND - there may be external influences: home life, bereavement etc
- This could be an indicator of a range of difficulties or differences.

High quality teaching, differentiated for individual pupils, is the first step in responding to pupils who have or may have SEND. Children who fail to make expected progress will be identified through the whole school assessment process. This includes termly standardised assessments. These are supported by optional SAT assessments in English, reading and maths (Key Stage 2 only). Half termly assessments include an assessed writing piece and Phonic checks.

The teacher will discuss with the SENDCo any child who, despite targeted class interventions, does not make expected progress.

Children who are causing concern may also have more detailed, diagnostic assessments to identify specific areas of need. These include:

- Phonics and spelling: Read, Write, Inc.
- Understanding of receptive language: BPVS - this identifies delay in language development which may result in difficulties understanding the language of the classroom. This can be used with children as young as 3 years 9 months and therefore facilitates early intervention

- Boxall Profile to identify any social, emotional and behavioural concerns.
- Maths - Sandwell, optional SATs and SATs.

We will then apply the Assess Plan Do Review cycle.

The process is a graduated approach

Assess - Plan - Do - Review - Assess - Plan - Do - Review and so on for as long as required.

ASSESS

- Identifying the child as needing SEND support - 'in addition to/different from'
- Class teacher assessments to build a clear analysis of child's needs
- Parents involved

PLAN

- Individual Education Plan (IEP) created to identify strengths and areas of need, record any additional or different arrangements being made including outside agencies; provide a brief overview of prior attainment, assessment and progress.
- SMART Targets added to the IEP to support learning and progress.
- Interventions, adjustments and support to be put in place
- Include expected impact
- Review date

DO

- Class teacher has responsibility for the provision for the child on a daily basis, where interventions are used (whether group or 1:1) the teacher still retains responsibility for progress.
- Teacher and TA work closely to plan and assess impact of support and interventions and how they are linked to classroom teaching
- SENDCo supports the teacher in further assessments, identification of strengths, weaknesses and the support needed.

REVIEW

- Review effectiveness of support and intervention and impact on progress (Evidence that they don't achieve is as relevant as any that they do - i.e. if they don't make it, it's not because they haven't had the input. Keep an attendance record e.g. over a 10 week programme)
- Teacher revises support (supported by SENDCo if necessary)
- Amend changes to support and outcomes to be achieved in consultation with parents and pupils
- School consider involving outside agencies if progress continues to be below expectations or if specific areas of need are identified.

External agencies and professionals can provide more specialised assessments and advice

- When there is clear evidence that several cycles of Assess, Plan, Do, Review have not resulted in accelerated progress
- When there is evidence that the child may be presenting with significant difficulties in one or more areas of learning
- This may be through the Learning Support Team, the Educational Psychology Service, Behaviour Support Service, Autism Inclusion Team. All services have their own criteria for involvement.
- Please note that health professionals and advice can also be accessed by school or by referring through the School Nurse service or GP. This may include Speech therapy, Occupational Therapy, Physiotherapy or CAMHS.
- Other specialised health professionals can also be accessed to provide support for children with particular difficulties - such as hearing or visual impairment
- Any professional from an outside agency will always meet the parent to discuss their concerns before meeting the child.
- Multi-agency meetings including parents and SENDCo can be held in school. This joined-up working is usually beneficial to all involved.

Parental involvement is a requirement

- School will provide an annual report on progress
- Where a child is SEND, the teacher and SENDCo will talk to parents regularly at least 3 times a year, usually coinciding with new IEP targets. All parents will be invited to contact the SENDCo/class teacher at any time if they have queries or concerns between meetings.

- In line with the CoP we will give parents sufficient time to explore their views and to plan effectively, setting outcomes, reviewing progress and support etc. These discussions will need longer than most parent consultation times.
- A record of this meeting will be kept showing outcomes, targets and support agreed. This will be shared with parents and a record kept in school. This may be recorded on IEPs. IEPs must be acknowledged by parents.

Managing Pupils Needs on the SEND register

Proposed SEND support will be discussed with the Parent, class teacher and SENDCo. All pupils will be included in discussions and target setting as appropriate (particularly older pupils).

IEP (Individual Education Plan)

This will be a child-centred approach, including information about what the pupil enjoys, is good at, as well as things they find more difficult and will be recorded on an IEP.

The IEP will also give details of assessments, planning and delivering next steps/targets; recording provision and progress towards outcomes.

The IEP will include a termly review date and must be signed by parents and child.

A copy will be kept electronically as well as being emailed to parents/carers. The level of provision decided will be determined by the individual needs of the child taking into account pupil attitude as well as lack of attainment or progress

Details of the involvement of any outside agencies will be recorded on the IEP.

If additional funding is in place, such as funding received from an EHCP, the IEP will set out how this is used.
